

Norfolk Virginian-Pilot November 10, 2013

NAVAL SHIPYARD MUSEUM

Learn about U.S. life-saving service

The Friends of the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard Museum will host a lecture, "Risking It All: Researching the United States Life-Saving Service," at 7 p.m. Thursday at the museum, 2 High St.

Michael L. Strauss, principal owner of Genealogy

Research Network and accredited genealogist, will present the history of the Life-Saving Service which merged with the Revenue Cutter Service to form the modern U.S. Coast Guard in 1915.

Strauss also will discuss resources available to researchers interested in the Life-Saving Service.

The presentation is free. For more information, call Corey Thornton at 393-8591 or visit www.portsmouthshipyardmuseum.com.

- The Pilot